

FLEEING THIEF IS IMPALED ON IRON SPIKES

Stopped in Flight by Cemetery Fence After Robbing Woman.

With a gash in his broken right leg that extends from the knee to the ankle, Salvatore Lisiageli, of No. 32 Central avenue, Brooklyn, is a prisoner in the German Hospital, Williamsburg, charged with highway robbery, and his victim, Mrs. Caroline Emmer, wife of a wealthy contractor at Glendale, is beginning to recover from the effects of a blow which she received on the head Saturday evening when $50 in cash was stolen from her.

Mrs. Emmer went to the bank in Brooklyn where her husband keeps his account and drew out $50 which Mr. Emmer, who is building several houses, needed to meet his payroll. She had carried the money home and was just opening the door when a man crept up behind her and dealt her a hard blow with a heavy stick, telling her. He then snatched the wallet containing the money and made off.

Several persons saw the robbery. They set out after the fellow as fast as they could go, but were being outdistanced when Mounted Policeman Torney joined the chase. He soon came close to the fleeing man, and was about to disconnect and grab him when the fellow turned about and attempted to get in the Cypress Hill Cemetery by the gate. It was locked and he tried to jump over the high iron fence, the points of which are sharp and extend two feet above the horizontal railing. He made a high leap, but did not get over. His leg caught on one of the spikes and ripped the flesh clear to the bone.

The policeman was not long in pulling him loose from the fence and calling a patrol wagon. It was found at the scene of the attack that the leg was broken, in addition to the cuts sustained, and he was sent to the hospital as a prisoner. The policeman round the way found no money near where his man was impaled.

Mrs. Emmer was not seriously hurt, though she suffered greatly from the shock and the blow on her head.

GUEST STOLE HIS "ROLL" AS A JOKE

Beall Caused Farley's Arrest, but Accepted His "Explanation" in Court.

Up to sunrise this morning Jeremiah Beall, a young man in the wholesale dry goods business, living at No. 12 West Forty-fourth street, had a trusty disposition and a roll. In the Yorkville Court later he admitted he was minus both.

George Farley, a bartender of No. 137 West Forty-fifth street, is responsible. The two met in Jack's restaurant, and Farley had supper and several bottles at Beall's expense. Beall swore he had never met a better fellow, and offered to make Farley boss of his shop.

"Well," said Farley, "that sounds good to me, but could you make an advance on salary?"

Beall produced the remnant of his roll. Farley grabbed it and ran. Beall, who is a sprightly himself, soon caught him and turned him over to a policeman.

"You are both wiser men this morning," said Magistrate Sweetser, as he surveyed the rumppled wreck of Beall's evening togs. "I'll give him the money," put in Farley. "I had too much wine and felt like joking."

Beall appreciating Farley's sense of humor, the bartender was set free.

MONEY RATE KITING; WALL ST. UNEASY

Call Loans Up to 20 Per Cent. and Still Shaw Refuses to Aid.

Money rates kited in the market to-day and there was a great scramble for the limited amount of cash in sight.

Wall Street brokers need loans badly, but even at 20 per cent., the high figure reached for the day, they could get but little, the lenders preferring to hold what they had to await developments.

Financiers hoping that Secretary Shaw would change his attitude and afford relief, were disappointed when a telegram was received from Washington stating that the Secretary still held to his position and could see no reason now of supplying government funds.

Call loans opened at 10 per cent., but rapidly went up to 20, where the rate of 15 per cent. of the day, there being a slight ease near closing.

The stock market felt the effect, showing losses throughout the session, excepting the short given by the Standard Oil interests.

If They're Not—We Lose If They Are—You Gain

We've got to make the quality of cigars we say we do, or lose our business.

It's as simple as that. In spite of the size of the American Cigar Company, we've got to make better cigars than anyone else is making, or else somebody else will get the business.

The NEW Cremo Victoria Size-5¢ represents the policy of giving improved values at lower cost, through our new scientific methods of manufacture. The best quality that can be produced and sold for 5¢ equals the average 8 for 25¢ cigar.

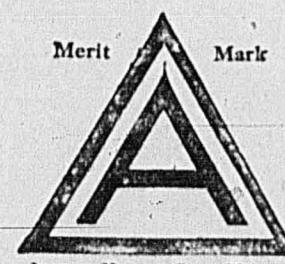

You are safe in buying any brand bearing the "A" (Triangle A) merit mark. Look for it whenever you buy cigars.
